THE DOORS OF THE WORLD

When War, with chains and bloodshed, slammed the doors on peace and barred the gates of freedom, humanity had little idea that its shackles would be torn off by the most colossal instrument of death ever moulded by the mind of man. The Anglo-American atomic bomb wrote finis to World War II, and Russia administered the coup de grace. As we look back, we can see the inevitable progress of events which led to the end. At no time in human history has one nation so completely dominated the entire world as we have in this last year. America has become the hope of the future in the hearts of today.

For six long years civilization was at war. For six long years all the lights were out. Smoke crept unseen through the darker air, and the heavens screamed and the earth groaned and the seas were black and dangerous. Men struggled, rubbed their eyes, and stared for the light in a bloody fog. There was firelight: the embers of London and Leningrad glowed on hurrying, sweat-lined faces and exaggerated them till they seemed distorted with hatred. There were blue flames, and dancing sparks, and the dead, still, metal light in the white hearts of torture furnaces.

No wonder that when the Allies threw open the doors and let in the sun and the shining day, all the world looked up in wonder. There was expectation that those who had shaped and wielded that superhuman instrument, the atomic bomb, would shape and weld a world of friendship and goodwill.

Let us at least hope so. The Milestone staff has seen our high school as a symbol of this hope. Let us make it also a symbol of the future. These are the doors that are never closed to those who wish to enter. This is the pathway to universal goals: education, understanding, friendship among all peoples. Millions have traveled along a road that led to war. But from these halls must come a new generation who will not wait for the sun to shine, but will reach up and break asunder the clouds. This year will be the turning point, both for us and for the world. For us, the exits of high school will be the entrances of life. Let us pray that this year will likewise be, for the world, the doorway to eternal and everlasting peace.

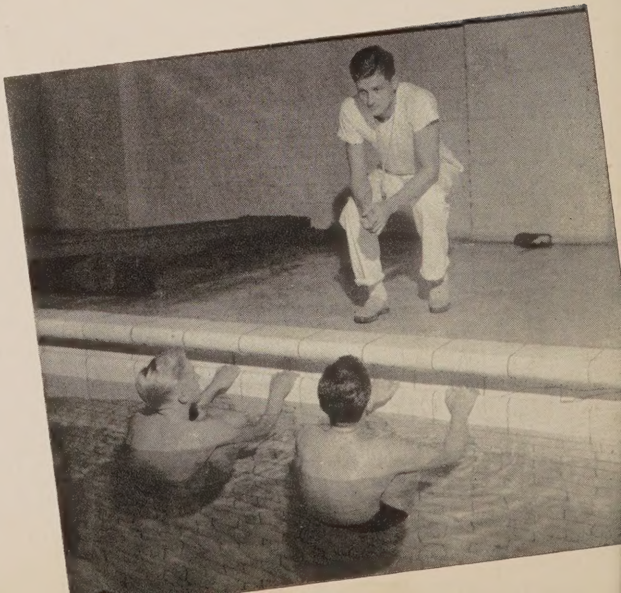
DEDICATION

To VICTOR B. LISKE:
in esteem born of his winning friendship and ready understanding, of the help and inspiration he has given to those who have worked with him, we, the class of 1946, sincerely dedicate this Milestone.

Victor B. Liske

Coach gives Whitey and Bob the word.



TO USE THE KEY

Victor Liske was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1910. Obeying an impulse to "Come east, young man," he migrated to New York City. When he left George Washington High School, he ranked first in his class in Spanish. He had contributed his swimming talents to the glory of George Washington, and once held New York's fifty-yard backstroke record with a time of 30.2 seconds. This was only four-fifths of a second from the world record.

Not long afterward the young swimmer was seen on the Lafayette College campus. He majored, of course, in Spanish. He was active in athletics, pitching varsity baseball, and participating in intramural basketball. In his senior year he captained the Lafayette swimming team. Little wonder that when he came to Plainfield in 1934 he was immediately snapped up to coach our own mermen.

The year of his coming to Plainfield was also the year of Mr. Liske's marriage. His two children, Nancy and Peter, are now both prospective Evergreen School graduates. It was there that Mr. Liske began his teaching career, taking time out to coach the high school swimming team through three successful seasons before he came to P.H.S. in 1937. Since that time, he has guided the mermen through nine seasons of record-breaking victory, making the Plainfield High School swimming team the pride of the city. Its record is one of which we may always be proud, just as we are proud to number Mr. Liske among our teachers and friends.

Right: Like father like son—a medalist in the making.

In Memoriam

Miss Esther Egerton

The portals of knowledge lay open, and she led us through the doorway to Old World culture. We learned to love the France which she knew and loved. She kindled within us the desire to explore other vistas of learning. In the hearts of students and fellow workers, her zeal and aspiration for high standards of scholarship will live, a rich, enduring memory.

IN OUR STUDIES

ARTHUR F. HOPPER
Superintendent of Schools

Merin Studios

Acting Superintendent of Plainfield Schools since the death of Mr. Frederic Cook in 1944, Mr. Hopper was appointed Superintendent in November, 1945. He brings to the position excellent preparation in training and experience. He has directed the Industrial and Fine Arts Department of Plainfield schools since 1915, was appointed principal of the Continuation School in 1920, Director of Graduation in 1926, and has served as Principal of the Evening School since 1928. His superlative work has gained recognition from schoolmen of the state and brought honor not only to him, but to the city of Plainfield.

Dean Lola Hoff and Dean George Smith find something to laugh about as they talk over P.H.S. "problems." Could be we aren't as bad as we think we are!

Who's that high-hat group? Why, that's our governing body. They don't live in the governor's mansion, but they do meet each Tuesday in the library for their Student Council meetings. Counsel on what? Well, anything from solving our cafeteria problem this year to improving school spirit. If you happened to pass by the library some Tuesday about 10:06 A. M., you might hear the knock of Jim Ring's gavel, calling another meeting to order. If you hesitated a while, you might get in on Secretary Cornelia Fisher's report.

The Student Council, under the supervision of Dean Lola Hoff, Dean George Smith, and Mr. Warren Held, opens a door of governmental experience. Through the Homeroom Representatives system it serves as a clearing house for student opinion.

We were proud to have the presidency of the State Student Council organization here at Plainfield this year with Ted Fort in the chair.

RHYTHM SECTION

Whether you get a kick out of shouting at Don Patterson leading the band in his bright red and blue uniform, or whether you hold your breath as Don Martino grows red in the face trying to play the last notes of his clarinet solo in the Orchestra Assembly, whether Beethoven's "Fifth", "Holiday for Strings", or "On P. H. S." is your favorite, you must admit that Maestros Brown and Andrews have produced about the best high school music in the state. Wasn't our own Mary Kay Schlichting a concert master of the New Jersey High School Orchestra this year?

THEY MAKE BEAUTIFUL MUSIC

"Let's try just once more! No—Someone is wrong in the alto section—O. K.? Now, begin! —That's all right. That's fine! You may go. Now, let's have the Mixed Choir." And so goes the practising time of the four sections of vocal chorus at P. H. S.: the Girls' A Cappella Choir, the Male Chorus, the Mixed Choir, and the Boys' Ensemble. Miss Marie Hollenbach, who has taken over the musical clubs in P. H. S. this year, has charge of all four groups.

The Girls' A Cappella Choir consists of co-eds from all four classes. Each year this choir gives the Choral Festival, one of the most popular musical events of the season. Organized in 1939, the A Cappella group has increased greatly in size since then, for the training it provides is exceptional.

Once again we have deep voices on the air, the Male Chorus, which was organized last year and proved a great success. From the boys' and girls' choruses has been selected a Mixed Choir. According to what has been heard, this, too, is popular.

These clubs do a wonderful job entertaining both school and community. At Christmas time they sang again and again for town organizations and furnished the musical background for the annual Christmas presentation "The Heavens Declare."

They may complain about 7:30 A. M. rehearsal hours, but the early bird—well, our P. H. S. larks surely get the applause as they open doors to a world of harmony.

TO GOOD CITIZENSHIP

There are four doors in town always open to our younger set of Plainfield, and they lead to opportunities for fun and fellowship. Yes, they're the "Y" doors. Hi-Tri, Moorland Hi-Y, Junior Leaders, Hi-Y, the East Fifth Street Branch of Hi-Tri, and the coed group called Tri-Hi-Y: all are sponsored by the "Y" so that P. H. S. students may work together and play together toward a common end—good citizenship.

We've made inter-racial understanding our major study this year, for we young folks want a just world in which peace can be preserved. Other items on our educational program have been courses in physical fitness, current events, the study of the Bible, world fellowship, and forums on issues of the day.

Of course, we go for the social program, too. Who can forget the New Year's Eve party, the Leaders' gymnastic circus, the winter and spring formals, and those famous Open Houses? Swims, hayrides, movie parties, teas, fashion shows, conferences—Whew! We're out of breath just remembering all the good times we've had. Nor do we forget those well-liked chaperons whose interest in our activities made so many of our social events a success.

Yes, there's fun and friendship to be found at the "Y"—and a foundation for world fellowship that is built out of working and playing together.

MAGIC CLUB

WITH FUN FOR ALL

Catch a ride on our P. H. S. hobby train and take a quick Cook's Tour of how we get ready for leisure moments in this post-war world.

The Aloha Club members really do something about those dreams of romantic Hawaii. Under the sponsorship of Miss Florence Firth and the presidency of Paul Corcoran, they delve into the culture of the islands and through correspondence make Hawaiian friends.

Houdini had nothing over Dave Merrill, Pete Smith, or any member of our famous Magic Club. This Dean Smith-sponsored club is famous for its super assembly program. Who knows? Did the victim escape from that strait jacket?

Another ancient skill occupies a group in Mr. Adolph Hauck's Chess Club. By science, mathematics, and plain, unadulterated brain work they completed a school tournament.

Ah, me! Such talented people sketch to their heart's content under the skillful guidance of their imagination and, of course, Mrs. Betty Geiss. President of this Sketching Club is Martha Reigal.

Seeking another type of culture, are the members of Mr. Hubbard's Chamber Music Club. Led by Leonard Zega, chairman, the club has studied the work of famous composers.

Finally, ask Camera Club president, Bill Renz; he'll tell you. When the camera bug bites you, you think, eat, sleep, and dream photography. Under the leadership of Mr. Kenneth Ball, the photographers, previously hampered by lack of materials, have been getting back to pre-war standards.

THROUGH THE SERVICE ENTRANCE

As a bewildered freshman, you probably wondered who that imposing looking senior was railroading you into your seat at the assemblies. You probably took notice of the fellow in shirt sleeves, adjusting the "mike" on the stage—and never getting it at quite the right height. You might have been a little befuddled when the movies came on the screen, wobbled, blurred, and then faded out at the most interesting scene. At that sweet and tender age, you might have lost your beau's friendship ring and have gone to Room 130, only to find a dozen more rings like yours, but the wrong size. You probably remember paying a thirty-cent library fine for an overdue book you hadn't enjoyed anyway. As you took in everything with wide-open eyes, you probably wondered who provided the super service at P. H. S.

Now, if everything has gone well, you are an understanding senior who knows that it is Miss Lola Hoff's elite usher squad that shows you to your seat with an indifferent stare. It didn't take you long to discover that the fellow always fooling with the "mike" is probably Bob (or could it be Don?) Jarrett, a member of Mr. Eric P. Nelson's Stage Electricians Squad. In the beginning you envied the many classes he might, with impunity, cut and the parties and dances he could attend free of charge. What a thrill to play around with the new switchboard, too! But you soon learned of all the blown-out fuses and high voltage wires he had to contend with, and you changed your mind.

Now you know that it's Mr. Caryl C. Dunavan and his Projection Club who have the headaches every time the fuse in the projector blows out. These boys meet to learn how to run various projectors for the Visual Aid Program. They are always on call to go to any school in Plainfield to give this service.

Because of your later experiences, you know that it is the Library Council, with Jo Ann Compolattano as president, that manages that "bookworm's" paradise so well and wrests from you your hard earned money in fines under the eagle eyes of Miss Josephine Miller and Miss Catherine Moraller.

At the corner by Stairway 2, where you can't miss it, is Mrs. Cecilia Whitford's room, headquarters for the Lost and Found Committee. This club, headed by Margaret O'Connor, guarantees to recover anything from needles to elephants, but specializes in books, fountain pens, and auctions.

Yes, life at P. H. S. might go on without them, but dull it would be without such service with a smile.

WE OPEN CLUB DOORS

If you aren't afraid of being caught on second or third floors without a pass, let's peek around some doorways during Monday Club Period.

My, oh my! What have we here?

Clickety-clack, clickety-clack in perfect (?) rhythm flying fingers make lots of noise, lots of time, and lots of errors. These are the commercial coeds chaperoned by Mrs. Ruth Wyer. These are the girls who have vowed to become that unknown quantity, a "super" stenographer. But there are some strangers in their midst. Close investigation reveals a few "academics" bent on getting in trim for some bouts with college term papers that will have to be typed. No matter what her classification, everyone's full of pounding energy. When June rolls around, they'll be finished products—or else the typewriters will be!

In search of a little quiet, let's meander over to Room 280 and look in on Miss Elizabeth Hageman and the Old Testament Club. Here's a group that's gaining a true background for world understanding, for where are there to be found better lessons in peace and fellowship than in the Bible? Today President Joyce Smith announces that there's an outside speaker addressing the group, but often there are slides and a study program. Bible week this year was observed by a "radio" program to which guests were invited.

Time's a-flying. We'd better go along. Everyone of these doors opens on interesting activity, but let's not hesitate. We're here to see that gifted group with the reasoning minds, the Math Club. Mr. George Garthwaite keeps these mathematicians on mental tip-toe with intricate problems and a challenging program. No simple x + y stuff for them! According to "Duke" Rounds, they're on the way to becoming all of the Quiz Kids wrapped up in one, especially his aide, Phil Nagengast. There are some plans for future careers of engineers and the like being mapped out here, too; for the club has made investigations of, and field trips to, various institutions specializing in branches of mathematical work. How intently they watch that demonstration at the board! Let's tip-toe out of here. Too close association with all these Einsteins puts one in a fourth-dimensional whirl.

ON MONDAY

Wait a minute! Better go back for that pass, after all; Miss Gertrude Moodey's sure to ask for it—and we're bound for her Museum Club. Did someone say that one of the best ways to keep the world at peace is to learn group cooperation? Here's a spot where it's being practised. This group works together in preparing models and exhibits for use in biology classes. It's a job that requires much skill and patience; but under the watchful eye of Miss Moodey, much has been accomplished.

Next door the Biology Club is playing around with microbes. Strange how fascinating Bette Brown and Naomi Ruby find these "wee beasties." Miss Helen Moore has supervised the microscope-searchers in their preparation of microscope slides, in supplementary lab work, and on field trips to museums. Jean Bailey keeps the finances in order.

We've discovered that every door of these study clubs opens to P. H. S. students new channels of thought, new ways of dealing with old problems, new interest in the world that surrounds them, and, most of all, new confidence in themselves to help keep the world at peace.

We've won the war. Yes, P. H. S. had a hand in it, too. Why do you think we bought the stamps that bought the tanks, the trainer planes, the jeeps, the ambulances and caused the Minute Man to fly above our school?

Now peace is here again—and Plainfield High wants a hand in keeping it here permanently. We understand that's to be accomplished only through loyal support of our own national organization and through a strong international understanding. So Margaret Gee urges us to buy stamps and bonds every Tuesday when the Stamp and Bond Committee, sponsored by Miss Adria Galbraith, Miss Gertrude Moodey, and Miss Olga Achtenhagen, make their room-to-room canvas. And we grow internationally-minded as the International Relations Club, under Miss Geraldine Cooley's guidance, keeps us informed on the problems of bringing into harmony the conflicting interests of the nations of the world.

THE ENTREE

Tuesday, deadline!! Monday night found a mad rush of work under the supervision of Mrs. Ruth Schumacher. Passersby were amazed, wondering how on earth the Entree managed to come out on Friday with all that hubbub in the office. But come out it did, and so well that it received first-place honors from the Columbia Press Association.

During the second semester new elections placed Harold Scherer in the position of editor-in-chief with Cynthia Sincoff managing editor and Robin Shrager her assistant. Edith Tanzer moved up to feature editorship. The art editor, Caryl Johnson, and the photography editor, Donald Ahearn, remained the same. Mary Loukides advanced from reporter to exchange editor.

The advertising staff, headed by Mr. A. H. Otto, consisted of Thelma Schumer, Harriet Lebowitz, Marilyn Grunther, Phyllis Gordon, and Barbara Satter. Gertrude Schiller held position of manager, and Donald Ahearn was the accountant.

Miss J. E. Johnstone's circulation staff did a bang-up job. Sol Gordon, Josephine D'Agostino and Joan Boylan saw to it that the Entree circulated.

THE MILESTONE

"Prepare to do work that can't possibly be done in the time we want it done." That's Editor-in-Chief Pete Smith laying down the initial assignment to the Milestone staff. Said staff looked at each other and gulped.

The swirl began—dummy . . . pix . . . identification . . . copy . . . cover designs . . . deadlines. Round went the heads of Editors Bob Herman, Margot Koegel, and James Wales. Dick Eshelman trailed the photographer. Saul Davis departed in search of service men, and Bill Gifford turned literary. Soon Jo D'Agostino and Mary Loukides qualified for a job with the F. B. I.; they'd identified so many of the P. H. S. Rogues' Gallery. Shirley Repak appeared at the Milestone office with a bill for a pair of strollers, worn out from running from club to club. But Mabel Hunter and Ronald Rinehart pooh-poohed her claim. Supposin' she'd been a sports editor, trotting way out to the field? Silent as usual, but sketching madly was Tinty Rogerson, turning out those ribless ribbon wonders that made Feature Editor Dick Matzen grab his sketching block, too.

Slowly copy tumbled in—then faster and faster. Roz Falk, Shirley Crane, and Ruth Doud worked copy—reading pencils to smudges. Eleanor Smith had recruited a bevy of typists: Brundige, D'Agostino, Folk, Gee, Kircher, Long, Marler, Pecyno, and Zimmerman, and those typewriters were stuttering. As fast as it came forth, Cynthia Sincoff topped copy with headlines. Deadline Day!! Miss Beakley was sure we'd never make it. Well, did we?

With a sign of relief, the editorial staff put its feet on the desk, an "Out-for-Lunch" sign on the door, and turned the inquiries, "When will the Milestone be out?" over to Mrs. Beatrice Texier and the business staff. Bob Dunham and Connie Feldman were paying the bills; and when it came to delivering the finished product, Joy Williams or Catherine Conner must have done her job. You're reading your Milestone, aren't you?

SWING WIDE

TO VARSITY FOOTBALL

Under exacting leadership our gridders ran off with a record-breaking team this year. Coach Abe Smith's boys compiled 206 points to their opponents' 76, which surpasses all of the Cards' former scores.

Sparked by Lavish, Fleischmann, Hubbard and Tierney, the team showed early prowess and later proved it. Seniors Tomaso, Kastel, Rothfuss, DiDario, Gibson and Hammond contributed strong support.

Using the effective "T" formation chiefly, Coach Smith perfected efficient teamwork, the handling of the ball pretty well distributed among the backs. Coach Joe Barile aided Mr. Smith with the drilling of the gridders.

The Cards' first game was snatched from a strong Carteret team, 27-6. Joe Lavish starred, making two touchdowns. The team displayed power, taking the pigskin over the goal the first time it was in their hands. In a steady downpour, the Cards trounced Columbia 18-6. After Plainfield's touchdown on the opening play, the rest of the game appeared to be a kicking match. P.H.S. not only showed ability on wet grounds, but also won for the first time over Columbia since 1930.

Playing their second game away from home, the Red and Blue eleven triumphed over Bound Brook, 45-7. This game offered opportunity for the entire team to play.

Then a slump hit the Cards at the Somerville game, but they managed to post a victory at the score of 19-6. That fourth triumph was not very impressive; it proved to be a forewarning, for the next Saturday Plainfield lost to a powerful Thomas Jefferson eleven, 25-0. The Cards were completely outplayed in the game but never gave up. The opponents seemed to know every play that John Tierney called, for Plainfield gained only twenty-five yards on the ground.

Returning to the brighter side of the score, the Cards defeated the old-time rival across the brook to the tune of 33-7. The Red and Blue team had pepped up unbelievably and was alert and quick-witted.

Rahway became number seven on the hit score when Plainfield scored 32 points to their nothing. The last game of the season was played on a mud-covered field with a record crowd attending. Both Westfield and Plainfield had won seven and lost one and were about even in strength. The final score was 12-6, the Blue Devils scoring in the first and last quarters. Ollie Hubbard saved Plainfield's face by pulling the pigskin down and carrying it over the goal in the last two minutes.

Selections by the Newark Sunday Call for the All-State Team were Joe Lavish and Oliver Hubbard, Group 3, first string. Jeff Fleischmann and John Tierney received honorable mention.

The Little Cards again completed their season with a good record. Mr. Arthur Smith, assisted by Mr. Hank Zastrow, coached a team to be proud of.

The Jayvees took on Columbia as a starter; and, after trailing the first half, they won 14-7 on a pass from George England. The Bound Brook game was a little different. All of the Red and Blue points were gained in the first half, after which the Jayvees held their opponents tightly, 26-6. Cranford, pinch-hitting for Linden, was snowed under, 27-0, the Cards running up the points in the first three periods.

Plainfield's only setback of the season was to Westfield, 13-9. This broke the thirteen-game winning streak of the Jayvees. In the second quarter the Red and Blue started the scoring with several quick plays, ending in a touchdown. Westfield scored a touchdown almost immediately and later drove over again for the final touchdown. With two minutes to go, Buccellato placed a safety for the last score.

Plainfield then came back to down the Regional eleven, 19-7. In the last game the Little Cards tackled Somerville easily, with 18-6 chalked up.

As their record demonstrated, the Jayvee team was a combination of tricky, hard-hitting backs and a good dependable line.

THEN J. V. BASKETBALL

Although the record of five wins and twelve losses appears one-sided, the Little Cards were a constant threat to their opponents. With Don Kennedy, John Arthur, and Bill Flannagan backing the team, they played good basketball, for seven of the losses were by a six-point margin or even less.

The first four games were alternately won and lost, but Linden set Plainfield back with a 41-25 score, and Hillside followed this defeat with a 42-34 count as all our players scored except one. After the Hillside and Cranford defeats, P.H.S. returned to the winning side with a 24-19 score over Rahway.

Regional topped the Little Cards 31-21, but Bound Brook again lost to the Junior Red and Blue, this time 21-19. Major Hubbard tossed in 31 points all told in the next two games, but Plainfield lost the first 32-27. The last five games were lost by close margins.

Where's that broad grin, Coach Barile?

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Romping the planks to complete a very successful season, the P.H.S. courtsters, coached by Wilbur Brann, proved themselves superior in thirteen games and lost only six. John (The Brain) Tierney of the '46 class compiled a major number of the points himself.

After starting off by trampling Westfield by 15 points, the Cardinals lost to Dunellen's "Iron Man" five to the tune of 42-28. Next the Red and Blue topped Bound Brook 34-22, but the Cards' triumph was short-lived when they discovered that Regional's Belliveau boys had swished too many, the score ending 35-31.

A comeback lasted four games, as the P.H.S. cagers defeated Linden, Hillside, Cranford, and Rahway. Art Terry, Anderson, and Ted Ziemienski played fine defense and floor games.

Travelling to Regional, the Cardinals were trimmed again 46-36, Charley Bicknell putting in 12 points. At Bound Brook Tierney led with 19 points as Plainfield sank B.B. 48-44. Even though the rivals had improved somewhat, Plainfield had improved more, as Art Terry's floor work indicated.

Rahway fell again at their home court, even though they used an effective zone defense. The Red and Blue's set shots mounted, the score amplified by Booker Anderson's one-handers. Cranford High then became the victim of the third game in the Card's winning streak, as Bicknell and Tierney led the scoring.

After a rest, the team crossed the brook to North Plainfield, where a record-breaking crowd watched the Cards defeat the Canucks, 32-39. The game was close all the way, even to the last minute when Tumolo and Tierney each put in a set shot. This stopped the Canuck's eight-game winning streak and added one to make the fifth game in Plainfield's victories.

Dunellen's "Jive Five," however, settled the P.H.S. hash with a 41-25 drubbing. Their marvelous defense held the Red and Blue down to only a few points in each quarter. In the next game Plainfield topped Westfield again, 37-30.

The County Tourneys found the Cards blasting Cranford 51-31, Tierney leading with 20 points and Ziemienski following with 12; but Roselle Park downed Plainfield's hope of victory by 43-29.

The deciding game of the city championship was taken by North Plainfield, 36-28, at the Rahway court. The Canuck's big third-quarter, plus some sloppy playing on the Cards' part, cost Plainfield the game and the title.

CROSS COUNTRY AND TENNIS

Our long distance tracksters, coached by Harold Bruguiere, ran off with one win and three losses. In their first meet, with Westfield, the Cards suffered a loss by one point, 27-28. Regional took a later meet from the Cards by one point. In the Rahway contest, at Rahway, we dropped a 23-32 decision. Bob Audet was highest scorer, placing third.

Cranford was defeated, however, by an overwhelming margin of 36-19. Joe Deady took first place, as he had done in the contest with Regional.

Boys receiving varsity letters were Captain R. Audet, R. Beattie, A. Bomke, J. Deady, A. Jembrysek, G. Patterson, A. Pittis, J. Ring, R. Tobey, and M. Scott.

Although the tennis team could draw on few varsity boys this year, the netmen did well. John Enander, two-year veteran, led a group of returnees including Bob Teitsworth, Howard Reynolds, Don Martino, and Charles Mobus.

The boys were coached by William Sette, who returned from service after an absence of two and a half years. He replaced Art Smith, who had done a splendid job as substitute coach.

The tennis schedule was evenly divided between home and away games. Schools that participated in matches against the Cards included Highland Park, Perth Amboy, Pingry, Westfield, Rahway, and North Plainfield.

SWIMMING

Under the coaching of Vic (Pop) Liske, the Cardinal Mermen swam a very successful season. Sparked by "Whitey" Thompson, captain, they won 6 meets and lost 4.

There was a large turnout of good material this year: Pelletier in the breast stroke, Dick Thickstun and Bob Rugen in the fancy diving, Thompson in free style, Brisbin and Enander in backstroke, and Hoyt and Nagengast in the 200 yard freestyle. Senior Whitey Thompson, state champion of the 50-yard freestyle, was defeated only once in his specialty, that was by Summers of Columbia.

TRACK

The Card Cindermen had a magnificent record to live up to this year. Coach Harold Bruguiere's 1945 team ran off with the State Championship, Jack Moody taking first in the high jump and high hurdles, Jack Pringley first in the half mile, Booker Anderson first in low hurdles, and Craig Kuentz first in the shot put. Moody, state champion in the high jump, had broken all his records by clearing six feet five inches.

That spectacular team gave this year's trackmen something worthwhile to try to beat. Jack Pringley, now a sophomore, had a record to try to surpass, as did Anderson. Moody and Anderson took third places in last year's state meet, Moody in the running broad jump and Anderson in the 100-yard dash. Haywood Alexander and Oliver Hubbard each took fifth place in the 220-yard dash and the javelin throw, respectively.

The '45 team secured five first places in the state meet. Plainfield won all its meets, including the Newark and County.

CROSS STICKS

As you approach the gates of the Plainfield High School Athletic Field any afternoon in the fall, you may hear Miss Marion Newson calling such advice as, "Get that ball out to your wing! Watch those sticks!" The action is fast and furious.

Six girls were chosen to represent P. H. S. at the North Jersey Hockey Tournament this year; and although only Joan Ceccarelli made the honorary team, the other girls displayed admirable skill. The seniors were Dorothy Mew, Barbara Kennedy, and Mabel Hunter.

IT'S A BULL'S EYE

P. H. S. girls strive to become as accurate a shot as Dan Cupid. Under expert instruction from Mrs. Ruth Gilbert on correct stance and proper techniques, they prepare for competition in the tournaments held each spring and fall.

The spring tournament is an individual one, but in the fall of '45 Arlene Johnson, Margaret Howell, Veronica Feorene, and Mabel Hunter ganged up to win the Robin Hood laurels for their class.

FROM THE LARGE GYM...

THE MEETING WILL COME TO ORDER

The Executive Board of the Girls' Athletic Association consists of President Helen Walulik, Secretary Mabel Hunter, Treasurer Barbara Kennedy, and representatives from each of the four classes: Ruth Audet, Olga Melnick, Edith Silbert, and Tessie Rygiel. The board meets at 8 A. M. in Miss Marion Snyder's office to discuss the problems that come up in the course of the year.

Any girl who goes out for at least one sport a year is a member of the G. A. A. and may present problems or ideas to the board for consideration. In this way every girl has a say in how the organization is run.

The last project of the G. A. A. was to change the award system. Now more of the girls may be eligible for numerals or for letters.

Working to arouse greater interest in girls' sports and to gain more publicity, the G. A. A. give freely of their time and effort and are real leaders of their group.

ATTENTION! RIGHT FACE!

During Tuesday Assembly Period you will find an active group of girls learning new games, dances, and exercises to teach their gym classes. These are the Girl Leaders, supervised by Miss Marion Snyder. These are chosen for their athletic ability, personality, and leadership. In addition to helping the teachers, they are always prepared to take over a gym class at a moment's notice.

After one year of teaching, the girls are eligible for a blue felt "L" with a red border, and the ten best leaders are awarded Leader's pins. Mabeth Hires is the Head Leader this year.

NET BALL

On the bright, sunny days of the spring and fall, Miss Marion Snyder teaches the girls how to play and score a good, fast game of tennis. Class tournaments are held in the spring with all of the girls competing. Every other year the singles are held. Tennis is a popular sport, for it develops the girls' agility and speed both in acting and thinking.

The senior enthusiasts are Dorothy Mew, Doris Keiley and Shirley Mason, who really keep the lower classmen moving.

TO THE ANNEX...

JUMP IT

"Take it out on the side! Shoot!" The ball sails through the air, falls into the ring, and swishes through the net for two points!

It's the girls making the "big" gym ring with a fast game of two-court basketball. Under Miss Marion Snyder's supervision the beginners become skilled and the experts, better. During the year the more experienced players take turns at refereeing the games. Barbara Kennedy, Dorothy Mew and Mabel Hunter have become very much "skilled with a whistle."

Practice makes perfect, evidently, for the class tournament finds the seniors winning numerals and piling up credit toward their letters.

ON YOUR MARK

"Swimmers ready? They're off!" and the girls swim down the pool in the fine style which Miss Marion Newson has worked so hard to teach them. Every Thursday afternoon at the pool the girls strive to perfect their strokes and diving so that they may compete in the inter-class meets at the end of the season. Shirley Moore, Joan Hamill, Shirley Crane, and Bette Brown are among the best of the senior swimmers.

COME-A-VIVO

"Have you got it? Hip, Hip!" shout the Plainfield High Cheerleaders. They are the girls with spirits undampened even by such rain as at the Columbia game, who show us how to cheer our teams to victory.

Co-captained by Shirley Crane and Janice Boylan, the coeds give their time and effort toward boosting the morale at P. H. S. When you see a cheerleader, you see a girl with plenty of personality, pep and appeal, much of which they acquire from their sponsors, Mrs. Alice Podesta and Mrs. Ruth Gilbert.

BASKETBALL
Third Row: R. Falk, G. Baxter, F. Hurajt, C. Mew. Second Row: M. Howell, S. Mason, R. Audet, B. Kennedy. First Row: D. Mew, M. Hunter, co-captains.

AND THEN TO THE FIELD

YOUR SERVE

It is Mrs. Ruth Gilbert who teaches the juniors and seniors the proper way to serve and rally for "two-up; one-down" and "three love" badminton scoring.

The girls play "doubles" and practice hard to win the tournaments. From class competition the best couple participate in the play-offs. Last year Eleanor Smith and Catherine Garlick represented the class of '46.

Then comes the individual competition, and anything goes. The winning class get their numerals and credit toward their letters.

STRIKE TWO

"Wham!" the "old hickory" contacts the "apple," and it's a home run! There is always excitement when Miss Marion Newson gets "her girls" out to the Randolph Road Field for a softball game.

At the end of the season the intramurals are held and the competition is usually hotter than the weather. The winning team receive numerals, credit toward their letters, and the honor which goes with being champions.

BADMINTON
Back Row: I. Harvelick, P. Herres, M. Wilenski, F. Hurajt, M. Howell, C. Garlick. Front Row: C. Mew, D. Cruver, N. Sachar, M. Hunter, captain; G. Baxter, D. Mew, K. Stitcher.

SOFTBALL

FROM THE AGE OF BOBBY SOX

Well do we remember that day lost in the mist of four years' time when the class of '46 entered the welcoming doors of Plainfield High School. Don't you wish you were back, pushing your way into the cafeteria, silently listening to the Christmas program, or even sitting in a "hair-raising" P. A. D. class? Herbert Otani became our president, assisted by Jim Ring, A. L. Register, and Caryl Johnson. The year before, in 1941, the United States had been plunged into a second World War; and our class, with sophomores and upperclasses, was helping all it could, collecting scrap paper and metal, joining the Victory Corps, and buying stamps to the limit.

As a butterfly emerges from a cocoon, we strutted into sophomorehood. Gerry Stevens presided, supported by a big bruiser, better known as "Pee Wee" Allen. Jo Anne Norman held the quill and ink, while Jim Ring's pocket bulged with the bank book. We threw a big party that year, the Soph Hop. Was that fun! Remember the date you had? Mmmmm! So what if she was bow-legged and lisped? "You can't expect everything, but I'd rather be a pebble on the beach than dance," commented Bob Bell. His date replied, "I know, Bob; then you could be a little boulder." As we prepared to leave for vacation, Dick Matzen was elected president of the New Jersey International Relations Forum in Montclair.

1944—and we were upper classmen at last, casting off our bibs! There were big doings for the juniors. Ed Lieb and Jo Anne Norman stepped forward in the title roles of Growing Pains. The cast was filled by others intent on giving only the best: Bob Dunham, Bill Gifford, Dick Manzelman, Jan Folk, Dorothy Joan Fort, Adele Wolfson, Dick Matzen, Harris Aron, Mary Kay Schlichting, Anne McDonough, June Marion, Vivian Beekman, Dorothy Donnelly, Ruth Audet, Marjorie Shallow, Ted Fort, Gladys Fox, Pete Smith, and Jean Wilson. Ted Fort brought a blue ribbon not only to the class and himself, but to the school, when he was elected president of the New Jersey Association of Student Councils. He had executive honors, for he was also president of the 1946 class. Lou Caldera, Margaret Gee, and Sam Heron assisted him.

The Junior-Senior Prom, with its theme of Central Park, went over well that spring. It was just about this time that Germany had fallen, and complete victory and peace were near. This new calm wasn't to last long at the Randolph Road Field, though, because some juniors on the baseball team were raising havoc with our opponents. Charlie Bicknell, John Hayden and Herman Kaminsky starred on the diamond.

That summer many of us were working at Madison Beach, Mohonk Lake, and other resorts. P.H.S. students flocked to the Jersey Coast to bask in the sun, while others worked in war plants in the Plainfield area, making the articles necessary for the victory in the Far East. In August crashed the first Atomic Bomb. A new age had been ushered in, accompanied by unconditional surrender from the Japanese!

Soon the autumn leaves were falling under a warm September sun in College Park—soon smoke was again rising from the bushes—soon Dean Smith was extending "vacations." Our last year at P.H.S. had begun. Len Zega, president; Pete Smith, vice-president; Midge Shallow, treasurer; June Marion, secretary; these were our senior officers. The class of '46 also gave the school three Council officers: Jim Ring, president; Dick Matzen, vice-president, and Cornelia Fisher, secretary. "A wonderful football team!" became our customary Saturday boast. Piled high with the bodies of Plainfield rooters yelling praises and phrases enough for all the town to hear, Ted Fort's steam-boiler of a car traveled every week to some enemy's lair. John Tierney, Oliver Hubbard, Joe Lavish, Angelo Tomaso, Jack Kastel and Luther Hammond were deserving those cheers, for they posted seven out of nine victories for the season. Later on, the basketball team proved to be no slouch, either. Charlie Bicknell, John Tierney, Oliver Hubbard and John Hayden all were score raisers. Down in the pool, Seniors Whitey Thompson, Bob Pelletier and Dick Thickstun practiced for another record season.

Some spent New Year's Eve at the Hi-Y Party, others at private gatherings; but wherever we were when Auld Lang Syne was played at 12:00, all thought of the friends we should be separated from at the close of the school year. We realized that no other place in the world could offer us the fun, excitement, kindness, and complete education that our dear old "Jail" had rendered. In January there were swimming meets; and before we knew it, April twelfth and the Senior Supper were here. At last the Hall of Fame was made public. Who were the seniors in the spotlight? Just turn to pages 90 and 91; there they are!

Do you recall the night of the Senior Prom? Low lights, soft music, and contentment in the auditorium, while outside the spring breezes carried the fragrance of new life. White coats and evening dresses set the style. Can't you picture the corsage you sent her? Can't you picture her?

Graduation found us sophisticated in cap and gown. "Plainfield, we revere thee; we honor thy name . . . " We can never repay our teachers and school for all they have given us, except by each striving for honor in whatever we do. Not only for ourselves must we succeed, but also for the people who fostered our education. We will be good citizens of an enlarged and, we hope, a united and better world.
